Sir,

RE: FORMAL REQUEST FOR LETTER OF INVITATION AND DOCUMENTATION OF OUR COMMUNICATIONS

I write to formally document our telephone conversation of Tuesday, 10 November 2026, when you called me through 07049215001, introducing yourself as ASP Onyekachi of Force Headquarters, Abuja, and informing me of a petition allegedly written against me by one Emmanuel Nwosu on behalf of Dependable 4 Nation, alleging cyberstalking, cyberbullying, criminal defamation and other offences.

Recall that when I requested to know whom I had allegedly defamed and asked for a copy of the petition, neither was provided. I equally informed you that I knew neither the petitioner nor the organisation. Nevertheless, when you requested a date for my appearance, I asked for a formal invitation, which you promised to send.

At 10:29 a.m. that Tuesday, you instead forwarded an internal police correspondence dated 4 November 2026, with reference CB:7000/IGP.SEC/ABJ/VOL.120A/22, [which is attached] addressed to the Head, Special Tactical Squad (STS). I immediately pointed out that the document was not an invitation. You promised to send one subsequently.

Upon my reminder the following day, you replied: "I have submitted your data to our Admin waiting for them to process the case file and return it to me." Yet, as at 3:10 p.m. today, Tuesday, 17 November, 2026, no invitation had been received. I am therefore putting this request in writing, both for record purposes and out of legitimate concern about the unexplained delay.

My previous experiences with the Police have taught me not to take procedural irregularities lightly. I am familiar with the unfortunate instances in which police powers have been deployed to intimidate citizens or advance private vendettas under the guise of criminal investigation.

Given my sustained public-interest activism in the State, which has inevitably unsettled certain interests, I consider it prudent to guard against any possibility of an unauthorised arrest, harassment or intimidation by persons who may seek to exploit this petition for ulterior purposes. I make no allegation that this is presently the case, but I refuse to leave anything to chance.

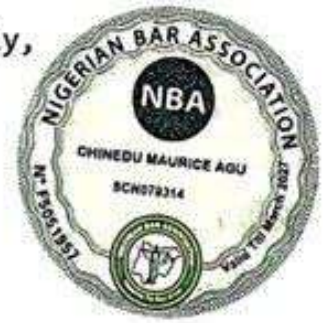

For the avoidance of doubt, I am neither evading investigation nor refusing to honour a lawful police invitation. I simply request a formal, duly authenticated letter of invitation, particulars of the allegations, a copy of the petition where permissible, and clarification of the investigating authority.

Upon receipt, I shall examine my diary and communicate a suitable date for my appearance. Until then, I am unable to commit to a date on the strength of an informal telephone conversation and an internal correspondence not addressed to me.

This letter serves as a formal record of my repeated requests and my willingness to cooperate with every lawful investigation. I trust that the outstanding invitation will be forwarded without further delay.

I remain available and willing to cooperate, but never at the expense of my constitutional rights.

Yours faithfully,

CHINEDU AGU
